

25 WAYS TO GIVE YOURSELF A LOVE THAT NEVER STOPS LOVING YOU

Welcome the following list of 25 largely invisible, and therefore mostly unrealized actions of love. Please note, as part of your study, the contrast between what Love IS... and what Love never does because its Divine nature is incapable of contradicting itself.

The point of this writing is not just to help awaken our sleeping conscience and affirm what it already knows is true about a Love always with us, but it's meant to take the exercise one step further, as follows:

Our willingness to see all that is NOT Love, is the same as being present to a lower level of consciousness that knows not what it does to itself, let alone to any and all others caught, as it were, in the throes of its unconscious pain.

The more we can catch this "self" running through its usual negative reactions to unwanted moments in our relationships with others, the more we invite the advent of another order of conscience whose presence is kindness itself, paving the way to being able to "love our neighbor" as we would be loved.

1. Love is always engaged in the creation of each moment, so it never feels bored
2. Love always encourages, and is never belittling.
3. Love is always constructive; it is never corruptive.
4. Love always accepts responsibility; it never blames
5. Love is always compassionate, so it is never unkind.
6. Love always acts for Good of all, never seeking an advantage just for itself
7. Love is always supportive, never demeaning
8. Love is always in the right place at the right time, and never in an anxious rush
9. Love always listens, quietly, and never speaks over others
10. Love always sees the whole, and never identifies with one part or another of it
11. Love always forgives, and never resents, let alone cultivates an enemy
12. Love always elevates, and never tries to take someone down a notch
13. Love always works to perfect the lesson, never to punish those who may reject it
14. Love is always successful, yet never striving to appear so in the eyes of others
15. Love is always at peace, and never fears negative repercussions for its actions
16. Love is always consistent, never wavering in its appointed duty
17. Love is always content with being itself, never bored, let alone seeking distractions
18. Love is always flowing, and never tries to coerce others to accept its view
19. Love is always patient, bearing all moments with equal grace
20. Love is always meek, and never looks to be seen by others as something special
21. Love is always here and now, and never goes looking for itself anywhere else
22. Love is always fearless, because it's never identified with some imagined outcome
23. Love is always on time, because it is never outside of the moment it's creating
24. Love always completes itself, and never feels the fear of missing out

And lastly, a lesson meant to be applied to all revelations born in the Light of Love:

25. Love always supports those who are willing to stand in its Light, and never judges them for whatever may be revealed by it

— Guy Finley