Start Asking for a Life that Never Stops Giving You “Good News”

Key Lesson: Part 1: Only when, and as the Divine gives the aspirant what it is that his or her heart really longs for, does he realize that it would have been impossible for him to imagine, let alone ask for what he now begins to receive.

Part 2: There is no “out there” ...out there, as whatever appears to be “out there” has no existence apart from what’s already “in here”... A timeless Light and Love that dwells in the very heart of us.

Talk Takeaways

- All true teachings show us that we are on this planet as human beings for a purpose that is already laid out for us.
- When you do not know what to do with your own life, it is almost guaranteed that someone will show up to tell you.

- Either our lives bring us into relationship with something broader or we're wasting our time with what we call "our business."
- You are so busy minding everyone else's business that you forget to mind your own.
- Spiritual work gradually introduces a person to another part of his or her own consciousness that has a completely different definition of what it means to be a profitable human being.
- The path of least resistance is never a conscious choice.
- We begin to wake up by first realizing our actual condition.
- It is a nightmare to have to think about what it means to be a good person. Instead, what would it be like to just be natural?
- Our business is to be an individual, which is an undivided human being, because in an undivided state we can't be made to act against ourselves or anyone else. Our first order of business should be to turn around and return to awareness of what is inward.
- Seeing yourself as you are is your real business. If you see yourself as you are, then you can be changed by the very awareness that shows you.
- If you wake up sufficiently, when you get ready to leave this body you won't be afraid of returning to your natural state.
- The thing in you that is incomplete tells you what to do in order to become complete.
- What others may or may not think about us is not our business. Our business is being aware of the unconscious parts of us that fear we're only as worthwhile as others agree we are.
- Worrying about what tomorrow may bring, or how to fix yesterday's sorrow is not our business.
- The only freedom is in being an individual doing your Father's business.

- Comparing ourselves to others, or wondering why they make the misguided choices they do, is not our business.
- We are not in the business of fear, no matter how much it tells us we stand to lose if we don't do as it tells us we must.
- What to do with other people who don't see life as we often insist they do is not our business.
- This is not your world. You're in it but you're not meant to be of it.
- Exercise: Make a list of all the familiar thoughts, feelings, and actions you've always automatically complied with... and then watch what happens as you walk away from doing "business as usual" with them.
