

Lights Along the Way

*H*ow I love to wander through fields of light, stopping here and there to see, and to stand in silent awe as from its ground flowers never-ending insight, gently asking me to remain there long enough to give each newborn revelation...the love it needs to die.

— Guy Finley