

A Great Lesson in Self-Liberation

As long as we resist, we can't see.

As long as we can't see, we can't explore.

As long as we can't explore, we can't discover.

As long as we can't discover, it's impossible to learn.

And as long as we can't learn, we'll never be able to grasp, let alone realize the one great lesson about the true nature of resistance...a Divine revelation that alone has the power to liberate us from the unseen bondage of useless suffering.
