Answer this Divine Call and Realize the Next Level of Consciousness

Key Lesson: Spiritual liberation is not an attainment; real freedom is not an achievement, let alone the by-product of belief. (It is) a grace-granted realization that we are not who we've mistaken ourselves to be: the limited experience of a temporal body that's been given a temporary place in this world of passing time.

Talk Takeaways

- The world that you are seeking to escape from is a creation of your own consciousness, which means that it cannot be avoided.
- The real source of conflict is inside the consciousness that blames what it perceives to be outside of itself.
- What goes around comes around, until there is acceptance of what is being revealed.
- The reason moments seem to repeat themselves is because the consciousness that perceives those moments does not change.
- Until the purpose of each seemingly random unwanted moment is fulfilled, there will always remain within us some yet to be realized character in this consciousness that will continue to draw to it what is required for it to complete itself.

- The real purpose of every moment in time is to bring about a reconciliation between Heaven and Earth.
- The deeper meaning of the word "repent" is "to turn around."
- Negative reactions appear in the mind that does not understand the appearance of resistance. All negative reactions are the unconscious effect of misunderstanding the initial state of resistance.
- There is no negativity in a disturbance until thought describes the disturbance. The mind relies on thought for protection from the disturbance.
- The will of the vine is passed into the branch, which then produces the fruit. The branch cannot produce the fruit without the will of the vine.
- The Divine life is always producing a disturbance, but it is not necessary for the mind to interpret the disturbance, especially when the interpretation is negative.
- Attention must be developed in order to not be hypnotized by the mind's interpretation of every disturbance.
- Real rebirth requires that you will have to give something up, not add something to yourself.
- Instead of resisting your body's limitations as you age, let them teach you about your own mortality.
